

GINGERBREAD HOUSE M.D.

Fucking Fascist Won't Share His Computer Paper

Hitting Things Still A Valid Route To Political Office

Nation Ponders Grad School

Ke$ha To Release New Line Of Hepatitis

Men's Polo Team Suffers From Inferiority Complex

Daddy Has Slutty Daughter Issues

THE MUPPETS TAKE DUBAI!

around campus

- Hey baby, can I take you out to the VIP dining line sometime?
- My bowels move like Jagger.
- No shirt, no shoes, no service animals, or something like that...
- J. Edgar is about vacuums, right?
- I'm allergic to fire. I break out in agony.
- This is not a Beauty and the Beast themed party, that is my menorah.
- It's like wine, only cooler!
- If you're going to practice safe sex, make sure to remember the combination.
- Hey there hottie, want to take a look at my restricted network?
- Blackboard, your name doesn't even make sense.

- Okay. Best pregnancy scare story. Go!
- Looks like I'll be taking a course at ACC again.
- Google calendars should really have a party o'clock option.
- NBA players will refuse Kim Kardashian's offers, resulting in a second lockout.
- Tragedy could have been avoided if everyone hadn't updated their Facebook status before helping.
- For a TA you know an awful lot about this subject.
- Have you heard the NPR special on loneliness?
- This reggae song sounds the same when I'm high. MYTH: BUSTED.
- Did you catch Video Game Hour Live last night? Ok, I won't spoil it.
- Coming this fall: Sassy Dude Dying Of Cancer starring Seth Rogen
- Sex is on my mind. GROSS! getitoffgetitoffgetitoff.
- Sorry hun, I've got Appletini-dick.
- Austin may not have produced Paranormal Activity 3, but it will promote the hell out of it. #AFF
- I'm glad we found el Dorado because I'm

- very partial about my tortilla chips.
- My dealer called it "Blue Dream," but I'm pretty sure they call everything that.
- Qdoba: Chipotle of the night
- The six-hundred word cover article about campus bathrooms will highlight the questionable value of the Daily Texan.
- Your gay friend has been in the closet a long time, but that's probably because he has a lot of clothes to choose from.
- Slytherin President tweets: Potter assassination "tempting"

"Does this sweater make me look straight?"
by Neil Patrick Harris

Carl Suggests Buffet Again

Blowjob Sucks

EAT THIS

Seven-layered-dip

Chicken and Waffles

Ben & Jerry's Chunky Monkey

Large slice of pie

Family Style Dining

Jerk Chicken

seven hundred-layered dip

Spam and Pancake batter

Ben & Jerry

the Rest of the pie

No sharing

Asshole Cow

Men's Fatness

How to make your child even bigger than you
Plus: Interview with Val Kilmer from "The Benefits of Being Large" and "Fatman Forever"

Stellar flabs in seven combo meals

How to rationalize your fifth heart attack: including tips on making the most of your indigestion

Plus: Interview with Val Kilmer from "The Benefits of Being Large" and "Fatman Forever"

Get Flabs Like These

Live your life to the fullest without leaving the recliner

DIY: Liposuction!

AND THAT!

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF	David McQuary
MANAGING EDITOR	Hannah Oley
ASSOCIATE EDITOR	C. J. Cervantes
DESIGN DIRECTOR	Aaron Rodriguez
MEDIA EDITOR	Jordan Ripley
PHOTOGRAPHER	Cameron Jones
DISTRIBUTION DIRECTOR	Vishal Jain
SOCIAL MEDIA EDITOR	Beck Olp
WRITING STAFF	Harry Truong Joe Marshall Joe Faina Kristen Moor Nick Mehendele
DESIGN STAFF	Josue Ramirez Mumta Mittal Raquel Breternitz Tessa Meriwether Shelby Wilson
ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANTS	Cameron Davison Katherine Bridgeman Katherine Swope Dustin Mark Chandler Nuñez Holli Lotz Andrew Chang-Gu Alex Huckabee Aston Wallin Jordan Dempsey Chris Gilman Zoe Selbin

CONTACT

PHONE	512-471-7898
EMAIL	letters@texastravesty.com
WEB	www.texastravesty.com
MAIL	Texas Travesty • UT Austin P.O. Box D • Austin, TX 78713

EDITORS EMERITUS

Kevin Butler 1997	David Strauss 2006-2007
Brad Butler 1997-2000	Veronica Hansen 2007-2008
Ben Stroud 2000-2001	Ross Luippold 2008-2009
Trevor Rosen 2001-2003	Matt Ingebretson 2009-2010
Todd Ross Nienkerk 2003-2005	Alyssa Peters 2010-2011

Kristin Hillery
2005-2006

LEGALESE

The Texas Travesty is the student humor publication at the University of Texas at Austin, published monthly by the permanent and contributing staff. The Travesty is a work of (hopefully) humorous fiction. Except where public figures are involved, characters are not based on any real person. Any resemblance to any persons living or dead is coincidental. The views expressed in the Travesty do not reflect the views of Texas Student Publications, the University of Texas at Austin or pretty much anyone. All material printed is property of the Travesty. The Texas Travesty is not intended for readers under 18 years of age, regardless of the pretty pictures.

SHOUT OUTZ TO...

Aaron's fucking car; Wonder Pets; "Quiet, woman!"; Katherine's key lime pie; mystery boners; threatening e-mails; creepin' alumni; Cameron Fielder; Karri Lendo; Samien Quazi's career in the entertainment industry; jaywalking fines

Sports Good Way For Children To Find Purpose Before Crushing Reality Of Adulthood

Kristen Moor

STAFF WRITER

SAN FRANCISCO – A recent study by TIME reveals that sports such as football, basketball, and soccer are good ways for children to find purpose before entering into the crushing reality of adulthood. Because of ever-present high unemployment rates, the increasing amount of student loans, and the dismal quality of recent presidential candidates in the past several elections, experts say that if you are planning on finding purpose in life, you had better be under the age of eighteen and on a sports team.

This sad fact of life is especially difficult for recent college graduates to cope with. “For those indecisive about suicide, just look at the job market today,” said unemployed Harvard alum Dennis Phelan, as he finished the final knots on his rope. “However, youth sports teams are now accepting members, if you’re looking for a fun-loving good time!”

A follow-up report on Phelan shows that this statement was probably correlated to yet another one of his girlfriends leaving him. He is not the first to wish he could go back to his childhood days when it didn’t matter whether he was good at things like work or relationships. He stated, “My basketball team accepted me regardless of my failures as a human being.”

However, not all adults get the chance to play sports during their younger years. “My parents made me join the debate team,” recounted public accountant Derek Reynolds. “I have always wondered how different my life would have been if my parents had let me join a sports team. If I had one happy memory in my life to look back at, maybe I wouldn’t still be going to therapy six times a week.”

“My basketball team accepted me regardless of my failures as a human being.”

Experts suggest that 79% of adults rarely find any more fulfillment in life after leaving their high school sports team and most reportedly rot away in office cubicles, becoming part of the business machine run by cyborg bosses. Still, there is hope for younger generations to gain purpose through physical activity and a love of the outdoors.

“Yea, I like baseball. It’s really cool,” said ten-year-old Jimmy Morgan, about to run back to the field to give a final pep talk to his peers. “But I don’t think I want to be a pitcher when I grow up,” he added brightly, “I think I’ll be just like Daddy and ‘sell my soul to corporate America’ like Mommy says he did.”

As a result of the happiness and contentment that emanates from these teams of children, emotionally vacant grandparents, young couples, and friends have been drawn to watch these innocent league games. They have been spotted watching the children for hours and hours, reminiscing about times past when they too felt some pur-

■ This child plays baseball more successfully than anything he will ever do. Photo Creative Commons pose in place of the empty void now inside them.

For some of these adults, however, merely watching the game has not been good enough. As of press time, three adults have been asked to exit the field and leave behind their backwards-turned caps and futile efforts to achieve self-actualization.

Dumb Girl Tweets, Makes National Headlines

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA – National news outlets seemed to be scraping the bottom of the barrel last week to find any bits of news worth reporting, finally settling on some dumb college student’s tweets. “We were thinking about running an informative story on famine in Somalia, but the public enjoys reading about tweets from idiots a lot more,” stated ABC News reporter Gregory Krieg, as he briefly checked the Huffington Post for leads. “Social media is quickly changing the landscape of American media, which is why it’s important to put the spotlight on any idiot who tweets something stupid.” Krieg is thinking of running a follow-up article on the faults of publishing impulsively.

Chinese Officials Clarify To Google: Porn Is Okay

BEIJING – During a Thursday morning press conference, Chinese officials clarified to Google that porn is okay to search for on the Internet. Officials have been criticized for the censorship of political and religious beliefs on the popular search engine, so they decided to compromise with Google and citizens by allowing porn to remain uncensored. “Allowing circulation of new political and religious ideas could disrupt our society, but censoring porn?” asked Ministry of Public Security spokesman Lian Chen as he tilted his computer screen away from reporters. “I don’t see what the big deal is. It’s just people engaging in a very natural activity, and we have every right to watch them on a computer.” While pornography is not being censored, it must still follow certain standards. No participant shall be dominant over any other unless the dominance is for the good of the whole, and only generic toys can be used. At the time of publication, Chinese officials were clicking out of all the Live Jasmin pop-ups on their computer screens.

Joe Paterno Hit By Car While Looking Other Way

UNIVERSITY PARK, PA – On Wednesday morning, Joe Paterno was hit by a motorist Thursday while looking the other way. “I know [Paterno] wasn’t legally obligated to look both ways,” commented driver Chase Evans, as he straightened his dented Penn State license plate, “but morally I’d say he should have at least acknowledged my oncoming Bronco.” Former Pennsylvania State University President Graham Spanier, who was told about the incident while in line to receive his first unemployment check, commented: “I cannot be held responsible for the poor judgment of my subordinates.” In defense of Paterno, Penn State students have tipped over as many cars as possible.

Script Needs To Be Awesome But Also Really Cool

CAMPUS – During a preliminary writers’ meeting for a student film entitled Ashes of War: A Love Story, Radio-Television-Film senior Mike Young explained to his writing partner that the script needs to not only be awesome, but also really cool. Young insists that the final draft must feature epic dialogue, sweet-ass characterization, and a car chase. Young continued to tell his friend about the importance a screenwriter can have on the artistic direction of the movie: “If you step up to the plate, every freaking shot of this movie will be like boom, yo.” As of press time, Young is checking to see if anyone has responded to his Craigslist ad for a “sexy key grip.”

High School A Hell Of A Lot Nicer Now

ARLINGTON, VA – While visiting his old high school in Arlington last Monday, Connor Morris realized that the decrepit building he once visited daily is actually looking good now. “I’m pretty sure this place used to be a dump,” Morris remarked incredulously as he walked down the hall. “Yea, come to think of it, it was definitely a dump.” Morris strolled further, filled with envy for the school’s current students. “Okay, I stuck a piece of gum right here sophomore year. It’s not here anymore. What’s up with that? And these vending machines! Ice Cream Twix? I love Ice Cream Twix!” Morris’s shock by the building’s improvements was almost great enough to make him consider returning as a student, but his better judgment quickly reminded him that high school sucks.

Seneca Co-op Adopts Stray Baby

Beck Olp
SOCIAL MEDIA

In an effort to prove the merits of their nontraditional housing, Seneca Co-op has reportedly adopted a stray baby, adding one more housemate to their diverse family. Resident Hannah Kipp, who allegedly found the baby behind Mellow Mushroom on Wednesday, brought the child back to the co-op where it was welcomed with open, tattoo-sleeved arms.

"It was cold and hungry when I found it so we put it in a blanket and gave it a saucer with milk," said 20-year-old college sophomore Micah Williams. "It's so cute!"

In addition to being adorable and making the residents happy, many feel that caring for the child will work towards instilling a good work ethic in the co-op family members. "I think adopting this stray baby will teach us all a lot about accountability, which is an important trait to have for the future," said Kipp, as she added "Full-time Babysitter" to her resume. "We're encouraging all housemates to take turns feeding him and taking him outside to do his business," Kipp added, while lining the floor with newspaper.

"Who cares if it doesn't like meat?"

Since the adoption, witnesses have reported several disagreements regarding how the child should be raised, which the co-op hopes to settle during its general meeting this Thursday. "I think it is absolutely imperative that the child be raised a liberal, environmentally-friendly vegan," Kipp stated. The vegetarian co-op is known for endorsing a green lifestyle; however, other residents feel that it may be unnecessary to raise the child in this manner. "Honestly, I don't think it really matters what we teach it," resident Alex Hodges stated. "Especially since we'll just be feeding it left over scraps, you know? Who cares if it doesn't like meat?"

While most residents are happy with the new addition to the family, philosophy grad student Jonathan Butler is concerned that the baby may compromise the spirit of the co-op. "Of course we don't expect it to contribute financially," Butler said. "But as a co-op we do expect it to help out in some way, whether that be cleaning, cooking, or simply picking up after itself. If it should decide not to comply, I'm afraid it may have to seek residency elsewhere."

■ "Me and this baby are gonna play some fucking Skyrim." Photo Creative Commons

In a related story, missing baby posters have been seen posted on stop signs around West Campus as of last Thursday. The flyers claim that the child chewed through the chain link fence in its backyard after a particularly frightening thunderstorm, and there is a $50 reward if found.

Avalanche Claims 11 Pipers Piping

GSTAAD, SWITZERLAND – Swiss police last Thursday issued a statement declaring the death of eleven pipers piping due to an avalanche in the canton of Berne. "At approximately eleven o'clock in the morning, Geneva time, eleven musicians caused an avalanche due to their thunderous piping." The musicians were hired to play by a true love, and their incessant playing caused the snow on the mountaintop to break. This occurred just days after twelve drummers drumming were accidentally crushed by a tank at a military parade in neighboring France.

Local Man Buys Condoms As Loudly As Possible

WALGREENS – This Thursday, local man Brian Gordon purchased a 12-pack of extended pleasure condoms as loudly as possible. While waiting in line at the checkout, the young student was heard speaking to the clerk and other customers about his chosen prophylactics. "I was going to just buy the three pack, but then I thought, 'Well, I better be on the safe side,'" Gordon explained to the middle-aged man behind the counter. "I'd hate to run out and have to come back here again tonight!" Gordon proceeded to mock a fellow customer's condom-less shopping basket. "He'll be all alone tonight with that frozen pizza and diet soda, but me? I'll be kickin' it with my condoms."

Kerouac Blamed For Wichita Falls To Boise Road Trip

BOISE – Last weekend, Amie Walker blamed American novelist and poet Jack Kerouac for having to endure a road trip with her husband from Wichita Falls to Boise, Idaho. "If it wasn't for that idiot Kerouac, I could be at home watching Barefoot Contessa," she said, "But instead I'm helping my husband 'find God' in Boise, of all places." When informed that she and her husband were approaching Idaho, Walker remained unimpressed. "Wasn't Kerouac supposed to be representative of the beat generation? What's Idaho representative of? Potatoes?" In response to Walker's complaints, her husband has offered little consolation, but Amie is currently drowning her sorrows in alcohol since that's what Kerouac would have done.

Newt Gingrich Flatly Denies Flatulence Accusations

WASHINGTON – At a press conference yesterday, presidential hopeful Newt Gingrich flatly denied accusations that he was the one who farted in a Capitol Hill elevator in March of 1997. The damaging allegations arose last week when former Congressional aid Courtney Watson publicly accused Mr. Gingrich of the past flatulence. "Ms. Watson's allegations are totally absurd. I have never farted in my entire life," explained Mr. Gingrich to reporters. "The biased liberal media should stop attacking me and look at Ms. Watson herself, because everyone knows that she, who smelt it, dealt it." A Gallup poll conducted over the weekend showed steady support for Mr. Gingrich, as Republican voters have further tightened their assholes in solidarity.

BIG DOG CHALLENGE

ONE BOMB
Fries, fritos, chili, cheddar, sour cream, green onions, jalapenos, crumbled bacon, danger sauce, topped with sliced mini corn dogs.

TWO HAIR OF THE DOGS
Deep-fried bacon-wrapped beef frank hot dog, chili, cheddar, fried egg & Tabasco

FIFTEEN MINUTES
Do it and it's free! Plus a free t-shirt and your picture on the wall.

MAN BITES DOG

Hot Dogs UNLEASHED

512.614.1330 | MANBITESDOGAUSTIN.COM
5222 BURNET ROAD | AUSTIN, TX 78756

Report: Drumline Actually A Really Good Movie About Drumlines

David McQuary
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

WASHINGTON D. C. - Last Friday, a special presentation was made to the House of Representatives recommending public awareness of the American sports-music-drama film, Drumline. Both unexpected and moving, the presentation shed light on the long-ignored fact that Drumline is actually a really good movie about drumlines.

Ever since its nationwide release on December 13, 2002, experts have strongly insisted the significance of Drumline as a part of the "movies about drumlines" lexicon, frequently complimenting the film's realistic characterization and innovative plot. "The evidence is clear as day," remarked speaker and pro-Drumline lobbyist Alonzo Waters, "Drumline absolutely requires a rental, if not purchase, for a viewer to understand the true intricacies of modern drumline membership."

Although Waters is not a professional film reviewer or drum corps member, his background as Orlando

Jones' make-up artist during the movie's production provided the insight and experience needed to address Congress on the issue.

"The success of Drumline hinges on the brilliant performance of Nick Cannon," continued Waters. "His character's difficult evolution from a prideful upstart high school snare drummer into a respected first-chair snare drummer is both heartbreaking and relatable. Also, there's that

"Also, there's that funny white guy who plays the bass drum."

funny white guy who plays the bass drum." Waters pleaded all representatives to ignore partisan politics and admit that Drumline is a justifiably good movie about drumlines.

However, some Americans are having trouble accepting the claims. "I don't remember much about this movie," remarked 46-year-old Alabama native Janice Kruse, "But my son plays trumpet in marching band. Do you think I should buy it for him? It says it's only five dollars."

Still, there is a considerable effort in Congress to continue promotion of the film. "I'm very concerned with this issue, as Drumline impacted my life in more ways than I will ever know," stated 52-year old businessman Austin Craiger, a frequent donor to Water's lobby. "I had no idea what drumlines were like until I saw this movie," he said, while comparing his the movie's DVD and VHS boxes. "Also, there's this really funny white guy who plays bass drum. Man, I love that guy."

Hollywood sources confirm that currently there are no new movies about drumlines in production or pre-production. Drumline advocates clearly see this lull as an opportunity to seal the film's legacy as the definitive drumline-related movie of the past century. However, they maintain the importance of diversity when it comes to such films and recommend fans of Drumline to experiment in watching other classic drumline movie genres, such as drumline noire and the classic 60's spaghetti-drumline movies.

■ These drummers have been heavily influenced by Nick Cannon. Photo Creative Commons

Before closing his presentation, Waters tearfully quoted Orlando

Jones' Drumline character, Dr. Aaron Lee, leading Congress in an enthusiastic chant: "One Band, One Sound!" He then announced a surprise performance by rapper Petey Pablo.

Pope Issues $20 Cap On Secret Santa Gifts

VATICAN CITY - In an unprecedented move last Sunday, Pope Benedict XVI issued a $20 cap on Secret Santa gifts. "I believe we have all been affected by people wanting to outdo others by buying extravagant gifts. I'm looking at you, John Paul II," said the Supreme Pontiff as he spoke to a crowd of Italian grandmothers and tourists who could not understand him. "This may seem petty, I know, but without these measures, Christmas parties would fall into anarchy." As of press time, the Pope has not been invited to any Secret Santa parties.

Old Guy Still Talking

FORT LAUDERDALE - According to sources close to the 84-year old, Harold Caustigan is, at this moment, still talking. "He's been rambling on about the importance of neutrinos and something about the geopolitical stability of some foreign protectorate for hours now," said next-door neighbor Frank Kaplan. "He's in rare form today. I'd be willing to put money on him going for record time if someone so much as mentions how Reagan was right about trickle-down economic theory. What a crazy old guy. I hope I'm not as kooky as him when I grow up." As of press time, Caustigan was attempting to explain to his daughter-in-law the intricacies of string theory and why he should not be put in an assisted living center.

WE NEED DESIGNERS!

If you have experience with Photoshop, InDesign, and Illustrator apply online at TexasTravesty.com!

Veggie Heaven

Healthy Vegetarian Cuisine
with a Delicious Oriental Flair

CORNUCOPIA IS NEXT TO VEGGIE HEAVEN AND OFFERS A VARIETY OF POPCORNS.

WE SERVE BUBBLE TEA

1914A GUADALUPE • 457-1013

11-9 MON-FRI/12-9 SAT-SUN

T-SHIRTS FOR SALE $5

WWW.VEGGIEHEAVENAUSTIN.COM

Come check out our newly renovated property!

- Spacious 1 & 2 bedrooms
- On UT shuttle
- Cyber cafe with Wi-Fi

Available now! Call today!
1.888.903.2781
www.heritageathillcrest.com

Mention this ad and we'll waive your application fee!

broz
pedal

BEHIND THE JAMZ

THIS UP AND COMING BAND, COMIN’ ATCHYA FROM THE MEAN STREETS OF BOISE, IDAHO IS TOPPING THE CHARTS WITH THEIR NEW HIT SINGLE ‘YEA BABY.’ BROZ PEDAL, COMPOSED OF MEMBERS ALLISTER SUPERTRAMP, DASH DANIELS, MURR@Y AND MATTHEW MASSACRE, ARE SURE TO ROCK YOUR FACE RIGHT OFF OF YOUR ASS!!! CHECK OUT THEIR NEW ALBUM, MORE THAN BROZ. IT’S UPLOADED ON THEIR MYSPACE PAGE NOW!!!

TOUR DATEZ

2/09- Mall of America
Bloomington, MN
4/12- Budokan Stadium
Tokyo, Japan
5/28- My Super Sweet 16
New York, New York

7/19- Our own cruise ship!!!
Myrtle Beach, SC
10/14- Roller Rink
Traveler’s Rest, SC
11/08- USO show for the troops
Fallujah, Iraq

THE SONGZ

Yea Baby, (Don’t Stop)

“Ooh ooh, yea baby yea
yeaaaaaa oooooooooohhh
don’t stop, don’t stop baby oh yea don’t you stop loosen up my buttons, babe
yeaaaaaa oooooooooohhh
baby, baby, oh yea, oh
oooooooooooooooooh baby, yea don’t stop baby, oh yea, oh uh”

Blow Me (Loads of Love)

“I want to reach around your heart, that was my goal from the start your figure is a piece of art
I want to caress your lady parts

your “personality” is dreamy those thighs are soft and creamy
so girl, unzip my pants and free me
Things are getting Cleveland steamy”

This is the Music within Me

“This is the intro to the song
the song that is the music within me

I wrote this song in my head and on my paper and now I’m singing it to you, and only you it’s the music within me.

the notes from my guitar, are on their way through your ear into your heart and now it’s the music within you”

THE BROZ

MATTHEW massacre

Inspiration: Heroin
Bio: I was always a self motivator. One day I just decided to listen to the voices in my head and go for it, you know? And now look at me, I’m one giant middle section of an E-True Hollywood Story, which I believe is the ultimate sign of success. When I was 15 I did acid with this drifter, and he told me, “you rock, don’t ever change”... and I realized... I rock and I should never EVER change. I think my personal influence on the band is how I bring everyone together, like when I pass out; the communal feeling of everyone trying to keep me from committing self harm and choking to death on my vomit is a bonding experience for everybody. I also have facial hair. People I look up to: All the people who let me blow them for drugs. And my dad.

ALLISTER supertramp

What inspires me: my inspiration.
Bio: The most beautiful thing my eyes have ever feasted upon was the intricately beautiful waste my clogged garbage disposal was emitting. At that point I realized that I too was clogged, emotionally. I saw my future swirling up from the drain in an almost perfect spiral of ground beef. I like to record my thoughts in the hand-bound notebook that never leaves my satchel. My life changed forever when as I identified with Yossarian in the third season finale of Meerkat Manor. It was incredibly powerful. Influences: The Perks of Being a Wallflower.

DASH daniels

Inspiration: Other people’s failure
Bio: The day I knew I wanted to be famous was the day I looked in the mirror and got totally aroused. I said to reflection, “ If I can turn myself on, I can turn everyone in the world on.” In focus groups, marketers have found that I appealed to both women and senior citizens. I played the piano and guitar in high school, but then I realized I wanted to be a real musician. I would describe my style as sexy, but not too sexy for a sitcom deal Influences: Gandhi, Sasha Grey

MURR@Y

Inspiration: General George Patton, T. Boone Pickens
Bio: I used to be a roadie for Roy Orbison. I think I was a pretty big influence on that kid. I smoked a lot of reefer with Willie Nelson in ‘76 and he told me that one day the world would know my name. Being older and wiser, I feel like I round out Broz Pedal nicely. They also provide me with comprehensive life insurance, which is great.

SPORTS

KARMA

The golden opportunity to throw octopus on center ice arrives, but friends will continue to ask if you had to go to Canada to see the game

You have absolutely nothing in common with OJ Simpson, unless you win a Heisman trophy.

The NBA lockout has been resolved and LeBron James wins his first title.

You're caught traveling with the ball, but Travelocity finds you a great airfare-hotel deal.

Fortune has smiled upon you with a first round pick. Unfortunately it's Greg Oden.

Kansas State beats Texas on the field, but in a nearby forest, a steer will gore a family of wildcats.

Fozzy Whittaker may tear his ACL but the universe will right itself as he catches an XXXXL T-shirt as he's carted off.

To answer your game 7, bottom of the 9th grand slam to win the World Series prayer, God has postponed the world hunger issue.

Check offers from your phone!

got books?

GET CASH

WEST CAMPUS BOOKS

FREE Pickup from your door, or visit one of our locations around campus.

Pita Pit • Arpeggio • Dobie Parking Lot • 22nd & San Antonio

Quote
See an offer for each book online.

Lock
Save the offer until after finals.

Get Paid
We'll pay you cold hard cash!

www.WestCampusBooks.com

NBA Players Confused By New Metric Scoring System

EUROPE – As the NBA lockout continues, many players have taken to playing overseas, causing widespread panic over the use of the metric system to score games. Boston Celtics guard Ray Allen, who holds the record for most three pointers, was worried now that he has “no idea how many points a three-point shot is worth.” Los Angeles Lakers guard Kobe Bryant, now only 1.98 meters tall, expressed similar concerns over how he can possibly spread the floor on a much shorter 28.65 meter court. “It’s been a challenge. I wonder how many points my steadily decreasing field goal percentage is likely to produce in such a foreign environment.” One area that has not been a source of complaint is player salaries. “We get paid way more over here,” said former New Jersey Nets point guard Deron Williams, upon receiving his paycheck of over thirty million Turkish lira. “I hope the lockout never ends!”

Cheerleading Added To IM Sports Because, It's Like Totally A Sport

GREGORY GYM – This past Sunday, RecSports added Cheerleading to the IM sports roster because it's like totally a sport. IM cheer captain, Amanda Airs, who has served on the IM council as well as her high school's JV cheer squad says that the best way to get what you want in life is to be aggressive, B-E aggressive. “Some people say cheerleading isn't a sport, and I'm like ‘As if!’ That's way harsh. It's a major important IM sport, but whatever. Sounds like everyone is jelly to the max,” said Airs as she tied her hair up in a purple and gold scrunchie. When confronted with the argument that organized cheerleading isn't competitive enough to be considered a sport, cheerleaders everywhere responded with “talk to the hand.” Unfortunately, the hand had no comment. It's clear that with this type of counter-argument, IM cheerleading will stay strong. The IM cheer squad plans to hold an IM bake sale later this month to raise two bits, four bits, six bits, maybe even a dollar for new IM cheer uniforms.

MOM, BUY ME THESE!

All I want is video games, so stop calling me!

ORGAN TRAIL

Travel the Organ Trail to collect enough organs in your journey from New York to Tijuana. Harvest as many organs during your journey as you can, but hurry, winter is on its way and organs that suffer frostbite only sell at half-price!

- Visit historic central morgues, hospitals and cemeteries throughout America.
- Travel carefully to avoid sex changes, kidney rejects, zombie attacks, and dysentery.
- Go hunting! Harvest what you can but remember, you can't carry all of it.

ANGRY TURDS

The survival of the Angry Turds is at stake! Dish out revenge on the toilet paper that's threatening to wipe away their existence. Use the unique destructive powers of each different type of poop to lay waste to the toilet paper's stacked roll defenses. Angry Turds features over 50 kinds of poop that shoots right from sphincter! Angry Turds is compatible with all iPooP and Andropping devices.

- "It's a shit storm o' fun!!!" -IGN
- "5 out of 5 stars" - Reader's Digest

TADPOLE

For the first time, the unique prequel to everyone's favorite arcade classic Frogger is now available for iPhone. Tadpole combines all of the fun of Frogger without any of the mobility! Players must impatiently wait in a sidewalk puddle, hoping that no pedestrians crush their adorable tadpole bodies and their hopes of one day growing legs. Each of the 288 levels require patience and at least 6-21 days of time.

RAISING CAIN

Try your hand at Raising Cain as you embark on the exciting sojourn of child rearing! Each player is provided with an infant Herman Cain and is responsible for his survival. Players must navigate through the game, opening their own pizza stores while simultaneously keeping Cain from learning anything about economics.

- Learn the connection between running a pizza store and running the country!
- Work to conceal your boner, but not too hard!
- If lucky, players can make it through the primaries!

WATCHMEN

FOLLOW US ON TWITTER!
@TexasTravesty

AUSTIN ECIGS

GREAT DEALS
ON STARTER KITS

XT9ECIGS.COM

LOCAL SUPPLIER
769-0118

Travesty Christmas Stories

Here at the Texas Travesty, we're drunk on holiday spirit and the blood of our enemies! Let's keep the yuletide festivities going all winter long with some seasonal lore.

CAPITAL METRO OFFERS AN ALTERNATIVE

LOOKING FOR AN ALTERNATIVE TO DOWNTOWN PARKING?

Capital Metro has your ride.

Don't feed the meter. Capital Metro has dozens of bus routes that get you downtown and the Night Owls that run from midnight to 3am, Tuesday–Sunday mornings. $2 Roundtrip.

Plan your trip
at capmetro.org

METRO

GO LINE 474.1200 | capmetro.org

Home Alone in the PCL

At a time of Christmas past, there was a grad student named Devin Boe toiling away in the Perry-Castañeda Library. He had only just ordered a cheese pizza when the lights began to turn off one by one.

Devin had been locked in the building! But as soon as Devin had begun to revel in his freedom, he saw the silhouette of a spooky PCL guard in the distance. Devin fought back with booby traps a plenty, but the guard powered through the trip lines with ease. The syllogistic reasoning that Devin employed was also fruitless. His head was cloudy with fright and his arguments spiraled. The security guard was gaining fast. Just then, the guard was struck by a shadowy figure holding a mop. It was none other than Clyde, the surly janitor who always refused to leave! "Thank you," said Devin. "How can I ever repay you?" "Oh, it's no bother," replied Clyde.

Wendy's Frosty the Snowman

Once upon a time in the utopia of Winter Wonderland, there lived a magical and joyous being, filled with hope, cheer, and 570 calories from fat. Through the power of the god Dave Thomas, Wendy's Frosty the Snowman came to life! When wandering children found him in the woods, they happily asked him to give them Frostys for free. And he did, oh my! Out from his lid free Frostys emerged. The children were elated! They followed him into town where he gave everyone shakes and Iced Mochas. The mayor gave him the key to the city. Old Frosty led his merry procession to the local greenhouse where he began to feel uncomfortable. Soon his followers realized he was melting! As they rushed to lead Frosty out, he said, "Don't you cry, I'll be back again someday." Soon the mourners threw his mushy remains into the local dump, not respecting his wish to be recycled.

The Panda Express

All aboard, children! It is near peak dining hour! When you lay in bed on late Christmas Eve night and your stomach begins to rumble, listen closely for another, fainter rumble: the rumble of the Panda Express. It is a magical establishment in the northernmost edge of town at the northernmost edge of the Petco parking lot. You'll find Honey Walnut Shrimp and Kobari Beef and a magical minimum-wage staff of elves and immigrants. But take care, because as the world makes you grow up and the doctors tell you to avoid MSG, the "All Aboard!" call to the Panda Express becomes fainter and fainter...

Can I act in your student film, please?

Tony Hale
HOLLYWOOD ACTOR

Heeeey, director. Did you see what I did there? I just thought you might recognize that as my catchphrase from my time spent on the series, Arrested Development. Oh wait, I meant the critically-adored and acclaimed series, Arrested Development. Yes, I know that show ended five years ago. I guess that brings me to my next point--would you have an extra spot for me to act in your student film?

Look, I'd be a great fit for your student film. Here's my acting resume and head shot right here. As you can see, I've had plenty of experience with some of the best improv performers in the business, considering my roles in both RV and Larry the Cable Guy: Health Inspector. Basically, I think I'd be a good fit for virtually any role in your upcoming student film.

I read over the script and the sides you posted in the casting call on AmateurFilmMaker.edu. I really like how you start with a couple of guys in dark suits trying to rob a mobster bank which is secretly a drug operation. And the double suicide at the end by the pregnant sisters was a nice emotional touch. And what's the title again? Gun-played? Yeah, that's a great title. My role on Human Target really prepared me for the dark subject matter of your work, so I'd be pretty much a natural for any of the male roles. Or female roles. I'm open to pushing my boundaries. In fact, here's the business card of my agent. Well, actually it's my brother, but he's answering the phones for me right now anyway.

You know what would be a hilarious bit? I'm just shooting off the cuff here, but I could play this sympathetic man-child that's crippled by irrational fears and dates Liza Minelli. I realize your film is part sci-fi, part gangster tale, part period piece, but I was thinking that character I came up with just now might be funny to add into the mix. After all, I once had an acting coach in New York tell me, "It's the comedic moments that give birth to the purest drama."

Also, did I already mention the fact that I started The Haven, a group for artistic Christians living in New York? If you need someone to lead onset Bible studies, I'm your guy! Or heck, if you need someone to intern as a grip on your film, I know a thing or two about lighting, and I'm pretty good at winding cable. No? You're good on production and casting?

Hmmm...I told you I was on Arrested Development, right?

This marketing survey is making me rethink my life decisions

Dustin Mark
ENLIGHTENED STUDENT

Until today I thought I had a pretty good understanding of who I was. I thought that after living for 19 years and going through so many tests of self-perception I would know myself. I thought I made sense. It turns out, none of that was true until I took this online marketing survey.

I guess I'd never really thought about my financial philosophies before. I'm not a very religious person, but it must have been divine intervention that led me to that questionnaire. I spend a lot of time on Facebook, but I never noticed those little ad things on the right side. Some voice inside of me kept whispering "take the survey, take the survey," so I took the survey. Boy, was I in for a life-altering experience.

Now, people have asked me questions before like, "Hey, do you have a dollar?" Questions like that don't take too much time to answer. But you'd be surprised how deep you have to dig inside your soul to answer a question asking what you would do with one hundred dollars. Seriously, what would I do with that much money? That's so much money to be responsible for!

Let's not joke around though, I'm not poor or anything. I've got some money saved up: Chanukah presents from my grandmother, treasure chests I've found in my scuba diving adventures...I'm not worried about the future. But maybe I should be! As a kid I wanted to work with animals, but now I figure I'll need to consider a lifestyle with a more reliable financial backing. I mean, the survey asked how often I check my stock portfolio. Um...never? It asked how comfortable I feel with my annuity contracts. What the hell is an annuity contract? I have GOT to get on that.

Before you get too worried about me, there are a few things you should know.

As of yesterday I am no longer a women's studies major; I'll be double majoring in finance and economics. I've applied for three new credit cards – one for international travel, one for domestic travel, and one for mortgage payments. I've procured equity in several Internet start-ups. Need I say more? My future is looking more secure than a Swiss bank account. I should probably think about getting one of those, too.

People often dump on the Internet, saying it's dictating and unnecessary. All I'm saying is that if it weren't for the Internet, I'd have no idea what to do with my life. You hear people talk about epiphanies, but until you experience one you can't fully understand the magic. My life has been changed forever. Now I really get it. Get money. Get paid.

I really feel like someone's looking out for me, guiding me in the right direction. I even received an automated letter from the researchers who developed the survey. "Thank you for your response, Dustin!"

No, survey, thank you.

Graduate Programs

UTSA Engineering
MOST of our full-time graduate students are Funded.

PhD in Biomedical Engineering
Electrical Engineering
Environmental Science & Engineering
Mechanical Engineering
MS in Advanced Manufacturing & Enterprise Engineering
Biomedical Engineering
Civil Engineering
Computer Engineering
Electrical Engineering
Mechanical Engineering
Master of Civil Engineering

Quality Research,
Top-Tier Faculty &
Excellent Career Prospects are HERE Waiting for YOU!

For more details, please visit us at <http://engineering.utsa.edu>
or email us at coegradinfo@utsa.edu

VINTAGE

WEST CAMPUS

NOW PRELEASING

Wood Flooring
Ceramic Tile
Stainless Steel Appliances
Cherry Cabinets with
Brushed Nickel Hardware
Granite Slab Counters
Cable & Internet Included

Walk-in Closets*
Ceiling Fans Throughout
Glass Enclosed Showers*
Dark Wood Blinds
Kitchen Islands*
9ft Ceilings w/Dark Wood Crown Molding
Building-Wide Wireless Internet

Private Baths
Full Size Washer/Dryer
Private Balconies*
Controlled Access w/Intercom
Private Entry Garage
Fitness Center
Pre-Wired for Surround Sound

*In select Units

Now You're Livin'!

VINTAGEWESTCAMPUS.COM
A Campus Acquisitions Community

512-478-9811

Leasing Office located on the 1st floor of The Castilian